- B. 15 founders
- C. 20 founders
- D. 25 founders

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc., was founded on January 15, 1908, at Howard University. The organization is recognized for having a specific group of founders who played a pivotal role in its establishment. There are officially 20 founders of Alpha Kappa Alpha, each contributing to the sorority's founding principles and mission. This group laid the groundwork for what would become a significant sisterhood and network dedicated to community service and upliftment. The recognition of these 20 founders is crucial for understanding the history and legacy of Alpha Kappa Alpha, as each founder's contributions have shaped the organization's values and objectives over the years. Their commitment to academic excellence, social justice, and community service continues to inspire members today. Knowing the exact number of founders associated with Alpha Kappa Alpha is important for members and those studying the organization, as it reflects the storied history and the impactful legacy that the founders created.

2. What is the financial obligation upon acceptance into Alpha Kappa Alpha?

- A. Payment of lifetime membership dues only
- B. Payment of national and chapter dues
- C. Volunteering a set number of hours annually
- D. Contribution to a scholarship fund

The financial obligation upon acceptance into Alpha Kappa Alpha (AKA) includes the payment of both national and chapter dues, which is essential for maintaining membership support and operational expenses at various levels of the organization. National dues help fund the overarching programs and initiatives driven by the national organization, while chapter dues support local activities, events, and service projects that directly benefit the community and members at the chapter level. This dual structure of dues allows the sorority to effectively function and uphold its mission, ensuring that both national and local chapters can operate smoothly. It is crucial for members to fulfill these financial commitments to sustain the integrity and sustainability of the sorority's programs and services.

3. What is the telephone number for the corporate office?

- A. 312-555-0199
- B. 773-684-1282
- C. 800-555-0112
- D. 224-555-0174

The correct answer is based on the information associated with Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. The telephone number for the corporate office is significant for members and those seeking information about the sorority at a national level. This specific number is well-documented and recognized as the official point of contact for inquiries related to the organization's operations, programs, and membership. Other options, while formatted like telephone numbers, do not correspond to the known contact information for the sorority. Using the correct number when reaching out is crucial for ensuring clear communication and receiving accurate information related to the organization.

4. What responsibility does the Tamiouchos primarily have?

- A. Managing budgets
- B. Arranging invitations
- C. Overseeing membership intake
- D. Conducting meetings

The primary responsibility of the Tamiouchos in the context of Alpha Kappa Alpha (AKA) is overseeing membership intake. This role is crucial as the Tamiouchos manages the financial aspects related to membership processes, including budgeting for events, resources, and various activities that facilitate the intake process. While managing budgets is an essential function, it does not encompass the complete scope of the Tamiouchos's responsibilities. The focus is particularly on ensuring that the membership intake process runs smoothly and effectively, which includes overseeing the orientation of potential new members and the necessary financial considerations involved in these activities. This ensures that the organization maintains its standards and fulfills its mission while onboarding new members.

5. What type of events does Alpha Kappa Alpha organize to promote community service?

- A. Social gatherings and retreats
- B. Workshops, health fairs, and mentoring programs
- C. Fundraising galas
- D. Formal debates and symposiums

Alpha Kappa Alpha organizes events such as workshops, health fairs, and mentoring programs to promote community service because these activities directly address the organization's mission of service to all mankind. Workshops provide educational opportunities, health fairs promote wellness and access to essential health resources, and mentoring programs foster personal and professional development within the community. These types of events align with the sorority's commitment to social action and enhancing the quality of life for individuals and families. While the other choices involve valuable activities, they do not primarily focus on community service in the same direct manner. Social gatherings and retreats, for example, are more about camaraderie and strengthening bonds among members rather than serving the community. Fundraising galas are crucial for raising money for various causes, but they don't inherently involve direct community service. Formal debates and symposiums are more centered on discourse and education rather than service-based activities, which is why they are not the best representation of Alpha Kappa Alpha's focus on community engagement.

6. What does the term "general" membership imply in Alpha Kappa Alpha?

- A. Membership available to anyone in the community
- B. A classification for members without full voting rights
- C. Membership type that encompasses both graduate and undergraduate members
- D. A limited time membership for new initiates

The term "general" membership in Alpha Kappa Alpha refers to a classification that includes both graduate and undergraduate members. This broad categorization allows for inclusivity within the sorority, emphasizing the organization's commitment to fostering a diverse community of women who contribute in various capacities, whether they are students at a college or university or members who have graduated. This inclusion is significant because it highlights the importance of sisterhood and networking across different stages of life and education. By embracing both graduate and undergraduate members, Alpha Kappa Alpha creates opportunities for mentorship, shared experiences, and collaboration on community service projects, further strengthening the bonds among its members. Furthermore, this classification supports the sorority's mission of service while promoting leadership and academic excellence regardless of the educational status of its members.

7. What was the primary role of Beulah Burke in the founding of Alpha Kappa Alpha?

- A. First President
- B. Created the organization name, motto, and colors

This includes the development of the organization's name, motto, and colors, which are essential components of its identity and legacy. Her contributions ensured that Alpha Kappa Alpha had a clear and cohesive representation of its values and mission from the very beginning. The name encapsulates the sorority's vision, the motto conveys its purpose, and the colors symbolize its ideals. By establishing these vital characteristics, Beulah Burke laid the groundwork for future members and the sorority's brand, fostering a sense of unity and pride among its members. This foundational work has had lasting significance in the context of the organization's activities and growth over the years. Her role was pivotal, making choice B the correct response.

The Ivy plant is known for its ability to thrive in diverse environments, paralleling the strength and perseverance expected of AKA members as they navigate challenges and pursue their goals. While other options touch on various themes, they do not capture the core essence of what the Ivy Leaf represents for members of the organization. This target emphasizes the importance of cultural appreciation and the enhancement of artistic expression within communities. Through various programs and projects, Alpha Kappa Alpha aims to promote the arts as a vital component of community identity and pride, and to encourage engagement with cultural heritage. The initiatives under this target often include collaborations with local artists, art exhibitions, and cultural festivals, all designed to deepen appreciation for artistic contributions and to foster creativity among members and the communities they serve. The goal is not only to celebrate the arts but to also incorporate them into educational and development experiences that enrich lives and promote cultural awareness.

10. What is considered the highest honor that Alpha Kappa Alpha can bestow?

- A. Lifetime membership
- B. Leadership award
- C. Honorary membership
- D. Distinguished service award

The highest honor that Alpha Kappa Alpha can bestow is honorary membership. This designation is reserved for individuals who have made significant contributions to society or the sorority itself. Honorary membership is an acknowledgment of exceptional service or meritorious achievements that align with the ideals and mission of Alpha Kappa Alpha. It allows the organization to recognize and celebrate those who embody the values of the sorority, regardless of their membership status. While lifetime membership, leadership awards, and distinguished service awards are prestigious recognitions within the sorority, they do not hold the same level of distinction as honorary membership. Lifetime membership typically acknowledges sustained commitment and participation in the sorority, while leadership awards recognize leadership qualities and achievements among members. Distinguished service awards are given for exemplary service and contributions but do not carry the overarching significance of being an honorary member. Thus, honorary membership stands out as the pinnacle of recognition in Alpha Kappa Alpha's honor system.
