Explanations

SAMPLE

1. In the fall of 1905, the address where the Social Club met was:

- A. 123 Main Street
- B. 421 N. Albany Street
- C. 421 N. Albany Avenue
- D. 421 South Street

Precise address details matter because small differences in street type or direction point to different locations in historical records. The fall 1905 record places the Social Club at 421 North Albany Street. Changing the street type or direction changes the actual spot: 421 North Albany Avenue refers to a different street, 421 South Street lies on a separate street, and 123 Main Street is a completely different address. The exact combination of house number, street name, and the street type Street with the North direction matches the verified record, so this is the correct choice.

2. NOT listed as a location for the first initiation?

- A. Masonic Hall
- B. Old Fellow's Hall
- C. Rem Man's Hall
- D. City Hall

The situation is about where first initiation ceremonies are traditionally held for fraternal or similar organizations. These rites are typically carried out in private, dedicated spaces tied to the order, not in public government buildings. A Masonic Hall is a classic ritual space used by Masons; Old Fellow's Hall aligns with the meeting place of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows; Rem Man's Hall likewise represents a private hall used by a fraternal group. City Hall, on the other hand, is a municipal building meant for public governance and events, not for confidential initiation rites. That's why City Hall is not listed as a location for the first initiation.

3. What is the name, year founded, and seat of the Fraternity's fourth chapter to be chartered?

- A. Delta Chapter; University of Toronto; Toronto, Canada; 1908
- B. Beta Chapter; Howard University; Washington, DC; 1908
- C. Gamma Chapter; Yale University; New Haven, CT; 1907
- D. Delta Theta; McGill University; Montreal, Canada; 1907

The question is testing knowledge of the early chapter lineup and their charter years for Alpha Phi Alpha. The fourth chapter to be chartered is the Delta Chapter at the University of Toronto, seated in Toronto, Canada, in 1908. The sequence of the first chapters goes from the founding Alpha Chapter at Cornell in 1906, to the Beta Chapter at Howard University in 1907, to the Gamma Chapter at Yale in 1907, with the Delta Chapter at the University of Toronto in 1908 completing the initial quartet. This makes Delta Chapter the correct fourth charter, and the seat being Toronto, Canada, matches the chapter's location. Other options would place a different chapter, year, or city in that position, so they don't fit the requirement of the fourth charter.

4. Which founder was the first Executive Secretary of the National Urban League and helped organize the first three Chapters branched from the mother Chapter, and was the last to be designated a founder in 1952?

A. Nathaniel Allison Murray

B. Eugene Kinckle Jones

C. George Biddle Kelley

D. Robert Harold Ogle

This question asks for the founder who also held a key civil-rights administration role and helped Alpha Phi Alpha expand early chapters. Eugene Kinckle Jones served as the National Urban League's first Executive Secretary, a position that put him at the forefront of organizing Black civic and professional networks. He helped organize the initial chapters branching from Alpha Chapter (the mother chapter) and extended the fraternity's reach. In 1952, he was the last of the original Alpha Phi Alpha founders to be designated as a founder, recognizing his significant contributions to both the fraternity and broader civil rights work.

5. The material states that by-laws define the organization and list its principles and tenants.

A. True

B. Not Specified

C. Depends

D. False

Understanding the distinction between documents is key here. By-laws are the internal rules that govern how the organization operates day to day—things like officer roles, membership criteria, meeting procedures, voting methods, and disciplinary processes. The principles and tenets (core beliefs or purposes) are higher-level statements that define the organization's aims and values, and those are typically outlined in the constitution or a separate mission/tenets document, not in the by-laws. So saying that by-laws define the organization and list its principles and tenets mixes up their roles. That's why the statement is false.

6. What is the name, year founded and seat of the Fraternity's second Chapter to be Chartered?

A. Beta Chapter; Howard University, Washington D.C.; 1907

B. Gamma Chapter; Virginia Union University; 1907

C. Alpha Chapter; Cornell University; 1906

D. Delta Chapter; University of Pennsylvania; 1908

The question examines the sequence of the fraternity's early chapters and what it means for a chapter to be chartered—the second chapter follows the founding chapter and is established at a specific campus in a given year. After the founding chapter at Cornell University in 1906, the next expansion was to Howard University in Washington, D.C., in 1907, which became the Beta Chapter. Therefore, the second Chapter to be chartered is Beta Chapter; Howard University, Washington, D.C.; 1907. The other options mix in later chapters, different campuses, or later years, which don't fit the early expansion sequence.

7. Which university hosted the Beta Chapter?

- A. Harvard University
- B. Morehouse College
- C. Howard University, Washington D.C.
- D. Virginia Union University

Beta Chapter is the second chapter established after the founding chapter, and its hosting university reflects the early expansion of Alpha Phi Alpha among historically Black colleges and universities. Howard University in Washington, D.C. was the institution chosen to host this second chapter, making it the correct location. The other universities listed were not the site of the Beta Chapter in the fraternity's early history.

8. What is the name, year founded and seat of the Fraternity's third Chapter to be Chartered?

- A. Alpha Chapter; Cornell University; 1906
- B. Beta Chapter; Howard University, Washington D.C.; 1907
- C. Gamma Chapter; Virginia Union University, Richmond Virginia; 1907
- D. Delta Chapter; Howard University; 1908

Chapters are named in the order they are chartered, using Greek letters. The third chapter is the Gamma Chapter, chartered at Virginia Union University in Richmond, Virginia, in 1907. This matches the established sequence: the first chapter was at Cornell in 1906, the second at Howard in 1907, making the third Gamma at Virginia Union University (Richmond) in 1907. The delta chapter would come later.

9. Which city and university hosted the 1st General Convention?

- A. Morehouse College, Atlanta, GA
- B. University of Chicago, Chicago, IL
- C. Michigan State University, East Lansing, MI
- D. Howard University, Washington D.C.

The main idea here is identifying where Alpha Phi Alpha held its first General Convention. It took place at Howard University in Washington, D.C. This choice made sense because Howard, a historically Black university near the nation's capital, provided a vibrant center for early national fraternity activity. Hosting the first General Convention allowed representatives from the growing chapters to come together to organize the fraternity's structure, adopt constitutional rules, and elect leaders to guide its early development. The other institutions listed played roles in various activities over the years, but the very first General Convention was hosted at Howard University, making it the correct site.

10. What is the dedication of the History Book?

- A. To the community leaders.
- B. To the students of the university.
- C. To the Founders and early members.
- D. To the Youths who march onward and upward toward the light, this volume is respectfully dedicated.

The line clearly sets the audience of the dedication as youth and describes their forward-moving journey toward enlightenment. It uses the phrase “Youths who march onward and upward toward the light,” which signals hope, growth, and leadership for younger generations. Because the dedication specifies this group and frames their progress as the volume’s purpose, it points to a forward-looking tribute to young people, rather than to community leaders, university students in general, or the Founders and early members. That direct reference to Youths makes this the best-fitting dedication.
