SAMPLE

1. Which Major is associated with Unit 0013?

- A. Major Clay
- B. Major Hunt
- C. Major Webster
- D. Major Ricken

Unit 0013 is associated with Major Ricken, making this the correct choice. In the context of the Atlanta Dispatch system, each unit typically has a commanding officer or major to oversee operations. Major Ricken's connection with Unit 0013 suggests a specific role or responsibility that he holds within that unit. Understanding the organizational structure and specific associations between units and their commanding officers is crucial for efficient dispatch operations and can help improve communication and response times in emergency situations. The affiliation allows dispatchers and officers to quickly identify and call upon the appropriate resources when needed.

2. What does 0000hrs represent in military time?

- A. Noon
- B. Midnight
- C. 10:00 PM
- D. 6:00 AM

In military time, 0000 hours corresponds to midnight. This is the starting point of the 24-hour clock system used by the military, where the day begins at this time. Each subsequent hour is represented by a number that follows. Therefore, 0100 hours is 1 AM, 0200 is 2 AM, and so forth, with 1200 hours representing noon. When using this system, there is a clear distinction between AM and PM, eliminating any potential confusion that can arise with a 12-hour clock format. In this context, the designation of 0000 hours as midnight is pivotal for precise timekeeping, particularly in operations where timing is critical.

3. What type of court is referenced by '13G'?

- A. Traffic court
- B. Civil court
- C. Criminal court
- D. Family court

The reference to '13G' typically relates to a specific designation within the court system, particularly in the context of traffic violations. In many jurisdictions, different types of cases are categorized and assigned codes or designations, and '13G' commonly denotes a traffic court. Traffic courts handle cases that arise from violations of traffic laws, such as speeding, running red lights, or other driving-related offenses. Each type of court has its specific area of focus. Civil court deals with disputes between individuals or organizations, criminal court handles offenses against the state or public, and family court deals with matters like divorce, child custody, and adoption. Consequently, the designation '13G' aligns specifically with the functionalities and responsibilities associated with traffic court.

4. What is the 24-hour format for 7:00am?

- A. 0600hrs
- B. 0700hrs
- C. 0800hrs
- D. 1000hrs

The 24-hour format, also known as military time, expresses time from 0000 to 2359 hours, eliminating the need for indicators like AM or PM. In this system, the hours are counted from midnight to the following midnight, allowing for a straightforward representation of the time. For 7:00 AM, the conversion to 24-hour format involves simply adding 12 hours to any time after noon. Since 7:00 AM occurs before noon, it retains the same hour in the 24-hour format, resulting in 0700 hours. This notation includes four digits, with the first two representing the hour and the last two representing the minutes, effectively showing that it is seven o'clock in the morning. Understanding this format is essential, particularly in contexts such as military operations, medical settings, and transportation, where precision and clarity are imperative.

5. What does Code 24 imply?

- A. Nothing to the call
- B. Located explosive device/ suspected device
- C. Wanted
- D. O.C used

The concept behind Code 24 relates to dispatch communication within emergency services. This specific code indicates that there is "nothing to the call," meaning that responding units have assessed the situation and found it to be non-threatening or that no further assistance is needed. When a dispatcher communicates Code 24, it helps streamline incident management by informing all stakeholders that the call has been resolved or determined to be a low priority. This code allows emergency resources to efficiently allocate their time and efforts to other incidents that may require immediate attention. Understanding this terminology is crucial for effective communication in emergency response situations, ensuring that all units are on the same page regarding call status.

6. Which military time signifies the start of a new day?

- A. 0600 hrs
- B. 0000 hrs
- C. 1200 hrs
- D. 1800 hrs

The military time that signifies the start of a new day is 0000 hrs, which represents midnight. In military time, each hour is denoted in a 24-hour format, beginning from 0000 hrs at midnight and ending at 2359 hrs just before the next midnight. Therefore, 0000 hrs marks the exact point when one day transitions into the next, making it the correct answer. The other times provided refer to specific moments during the day rather than the beginning of a new one. For instance, 0600 hrs is early morning, 1200 hrs represents noon, and 1800 hrs corresponds to 6 PM in the evening. None of these times indicate the start of a new day like 0000 hrs does.

7. What unit covers Homicide?

- A. 4100-4199
- B. 4300-4399
- C. 0910-0949
- D. 210-219

The correct unit that covers Homicide is 4100-4199. This range typically designates specific designations intended for serious crimes, including homicide, in the context of law enforcement and dispatch protocols. In many agencies, each numerical range is assigned to particular types of incidents, allowing dispatchers and responders to categorize and address them effectively. Understanding the classification system is crucial for ensuring that the appropriate units and resources are mobilized promptly in response to incidents of homicide. The range allocated to homicide signifies the importance and seriousness of these cases, reinforcing the need for specialized handling and response strategies. Other ranges, such as 4300-4399, 0910-0949, and 210-219, are designated for different types of incidents or specific procedural categories, which do not include homicide. By knowing the correct range, dispatchers can streamline their operations and communicate effectively with law enforcement personnel addressing the situation.

8. In dispatch code language, what would a report categorized as 'force used' document?

- A. Code 17f
- B. Code 14a
- C. Code 15a
- D. Code 18

A report categorized as 'force used' is documented using the dispatch code known as Code 17f. This code specifically refers to incidents where force was applied by law enforcement personnel during interactions with individuals. The use of a designated code like 17f helps streamline communication among dispatchers and responders, ensuring that all parties are fully aware of the situation type and can respond appropriately based on the severity and nature of the force used. This categorization is crucial in dispatching as it allows for the documentation and tracking of actions taken by officers during an incident, which is especially important for accountability and record-keeping. Understanding this specific terminology used in dispatch codes helps in interpreting reports accurately, enabling effective communication and a coordinated response from the dispatch center to the field officers.

9. What is the primary focus of a "Community Meeting"?

- A. To develop emergency response plans
- B. To discuss community needs and feedback
- C. To train dispatchers on new protocols
- D. To review past incidents in the community

The primary focus of a "Community Meeting" is to discuss community needs and feedback. These meetings serve as a platform for residents to voice their concerns, share their insights, and express their needs regarding various issues affecting their community. Engaging residents in a dialogue allows local leaders, decision-makers, and service providers to gather valuable feedback which can inform future policies and initiatives, ultimately leading to a better understanding of the community's priorities. While emergency response plans, training dispatchers, and reviewing past incidents are important, they are typically more specialized activities that may not engage the broader community as effectively as a community meeting does. Such meetings emphasize inclusivity and are essential for fostering collaboration and ensuring that the voices of community members are heard in the decision-making process.

10. What is the designation for unit number 0001?

- A. Field Operations Division
- B. Chief Schierbaum
- C. Assistant Chief Tyus
- D. Community Service Division

The designation for unit number 0001 is indeed associated with Chief Schierbaum. In the context of a dispatch system, specific unit numbers are assigned to particular leaders or divisions within an organization. Unit number 0001 typically represents the highest-ranking official within a department, which, in this case, is Chief Schierbaum. Understanding the hierarchy and structure within the dispatch or organizational framework is crucial for effective communication and operation during incidents. When dispatchers recognize unit numbers, they can quickly address and coordinate with the appropriate personnel, enhancing response times and overall effectiveness in managing situations. The other options represent various divisions or roles, but none hold the same rank as the chief in this specific context.
