1. Which award honors work in Civil Rights?

- A. Osceola Award
- B. Mary Church Terrell Award
- C. Lillian Award
- D. Patricia Roberts Harris Award

The Mary Church Terrell Award is specifically designed to honor individuals and organizations that have made significant contributions to the advancement of civil rights. This award recognizes the legacy of Mary Church Terrell, a prominent civil rights activist and one of the founding members of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. Her work emphasized the importance of education, advocacy, and activism in the fight for social justice and equality, aligning perfectly with the spirit of this award. This focus on civil rights distinguishes the Mary Church Terrell Award from the others listed. While the other awards may recognize various accomplishments in different fields, the Mary Church Terrell Award is directly related to civil rights achievements, making it the most appropriate choice for this question. The historical context and legacy of Mary Church Terrell further reinforce why this award is synonymous with civil rights work.

2. What does the "SEE" Program refer to?

- A. Dr. Betty Shabazz Delta Academy
- B. Leadership Academy
- C. Implemented program by Gwendolyn Elizabeth Boyd
- D. Triangle Initiative

The "SEE" Program refers to the initiative implemented by Gwendolyn Elizabeth Boyd, focusing on educational enrichment and empowerment for young women. Gwendolyn Elizabeth Boyd, as a former National President of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc., emphasized the importance of academic excellence, community service, and leadership development. The SEE Program seeks to enhance literacy and educational opportunities, particularly for African American girls, aligning with the sorority's broader mission of social and political action. The other choices represent different initiatives or programs under Delta Sigma Theta's umbrella but do not specifically denote the "SEE" Program. For example, the Dr. Betty Shabazz Delta Academy focuses on empowering young girls through STEM education, while the Leadership Academy concentrates on developing leadership skills among members. The Triangle Initiative may refer to collaborative efforts between the sorority and other organizations. Each of these serves valuable purposes, but ultimately, they are distinct from the specific goals and structure of the "SEE" Program established by Boyd.

3. The Anderson-Dix Award recognizes contributions in which area?

- A. Engineering and technology
- B. Social work and advocacy
- C. Care for the mentally ill
- D. Sports and wellness

The Anderson-Dix Award is presented to individuals or organizations that have made significant contributions specifically in the care for the mentally ill. This award highlights the importance of mental health awareness and the need for comprehensive support systems for those affected by mental illness. Recognizing contributions in this area emphasizes the commitment to enhancing mental health resources and advocating for the well-being of individuals dealing with mental health challenges. In the context of the options provided, the focus on mental health distinguishes this award from others that may pertain to engineering, social work, or sports. The Anderson-Dix Award stands out as a specific recognition of efforts aimed at improving mental health care and advocating for the rights and needs of the mentally ill.

4. What amount of contribution is recognized with the DREF recognition created by the sorority?

- A. $500
- B. $1000
- C. $2000
- D. $2500

The $1,000 contribution amount recognized by the DREF (Delta Research and Educational Foundation) is significant because it aligns with the foundation's goals of supporting educational and charitable initiatives that advance the sorority's mission. This specific level of contribution often reflects a commitment not just to the organization but also to the broader community-focused programs that the DREF supports. Higher contribution levels, such as $2,000 or $2,500, may require additional commitments or be tied to different recognitions, while the $500 level does not meet the threshold that allows for DREF recognition. By setting the recognition at $1,000, the DREF highlights the importance of substantial contributions that can have a meaningful impact on educational and outreach programs, ensuring that the funding can effectively support grant making and research initiatives.

6. What is one of the current national committees in Delta Sigma Theta?

- A. Membership Development
- B. Finance

Effective financial management is essential for the sustainability of all programs and initiatives that Delta Sigma Theta undertakes, making this committee particularly important in maintaining financial accountability and transparency. Other committees, such as Membership Development or Community Outreach, while important for fostering growth and engaging with the community, are not specifically noted as current national committees at this time in the same way that Finance is recognized for its critical operational function. Therefore, the focus on the Finance committee highlights the organization's need for strategic financial oversight as it continues to advance its mission.

While the other themes mentioned, such as celebration of achievements, joy in unity, and commitment to service, may also hold significance within the organization, the essence of the Delta Mizpah centers on the emotional connection and ongoing loyalty among sisters as they part ways, reinforcing the strength of their fraternity. This loyalty not only nurtures the relationships but also fosters a culture of mutual support and commitment to the sorority's ideals.
