Explanations

1. What occurs to a victim's service support following the designation of a covered offense?

- A. It is immediately terminated
- B. It is activated
- C. It becomes optional
- D. It is reviewed annually

When a covered offense is designated, a victim's service support is activated to ensure they receive the necessary resources and assistance. This activation signifies that the victim is now eligible for comprehensive support services provided by the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program. These services may include medical care, counseling, legal support, and advocacy from a victim advocate. The aim is to facilitate a supportive environment for the victim, enabling them to navigate the complexities surrounding the aftermath of the covered offense. This proactive approach empowers victims to access tools and resources that can aid in their recovery and healing process.

2. How many hours must investigators collaborate with special victim team members after an allegation's designation as a covered offense?

- A. 24 hours
- B. 36 hours
- C. 48 hours
- D. 72 hours

The correct answer indicates that investigators are required to collaborate with special victim team members within 48 hours after an allegation is designated as a covered offense. This time frame emphasizes the importance of timely communication and teamwork in handling sensitive cases involving sexual assault. Prompt collaboration enables investigators to gather crucial information efficiently, ensures that appropriate support services are in place for victims, and contributes to the overall effectiveness of the Sexual Assault Prevention and Response program. Meeting this timeline is critical not only for the integrity of the investigation but also for maintaining the victim's trust in the process. Delays in collaboration could compromise evidence, hinder the investigation, or negatively impact the victim's emotional well-being. Thus, adhering to the 48-hour collaboration guideline is a vital component of the response framework established by the SAPR program.

3. What is the maximum number of days allowed for line of duty benefit requests related to sexual assault to be decided?

- A. 15 days
- B. 30 days
- C. 45 days
- D. 60 days

The maximum number of days allowed for line of duty benefit requests related to sexual assault to be decided is 30 days. This timeline is established to ensure that the requests are processed in a timely manner, which is crucial in providing necessary support and resources to victims of sexual assault in a military context. The prompt decision-making helps facilitate access to benefits and care that may be critical for the well-being of the individuals affected. Timeliness in processing these requests is part of the broader effort to support victims and encourage reporting, ultimately fostering a more responsive and supportive environment within the military. This is central to the objectives of the Navy's Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program, which prioritizes the needs of victims while also working to maintain accountability and enforce appropriate protocols.

4. For how many years is the DD Form 2910 retained?

- A. 25 years
- B. 35 years
- C. 50 years
- D. 75 years

The correct retention period for the DD Form 2910, which is the Report of Sexual Assault, is 50 years. This duration is established to ensure that there is a long-term record of sexual assault incidents, which is vital for ongoing support and responses to victims, as well as for statistical purposes and accountability within the Navy. Retaining these records for such an extended period allows for historical context and aids in improving policies and practices related to sexual assault prevention and response. It also reflects the commitment to providing ongoing care for victims, as their needs may arise long after the initial report. Other options suggest shorter retention periods, which wouldn't sufficiently cover the potential needs for historical data and victim support, thereby not aligning with the program's objectives and requirements.

5. Which position is designated as the Chief of Naval Operations' officer for Sexual Assault Prevention and Response?

A. OPNAV N17

B. Chief of Chaplains

C. Judge Advocate General

D. Department of Defense

The Chief of Naval Operations' officer for Sexual Assault Prevention and Response is designated as OPNAV N17. This position is specifically focused on the development, implementation, and oversight of policies related to sexual assault prevention and response within the Navy. The importance of this role lies in its responsibility to supervise the SAPR Program, ensuring that it aligns with the Navy's overarching goals and objectives, and supports victims effectively. Other options, such as the Chief of Chaplains, Judge Advocate General, or the Department of Defense, have different responsibilities that do not specifically focus on the administration or strategic oversight of sexual assault prevention and response programs within the Navy. The Chief of Chaplains, for instance, provides spiritual guidance and support, rather than direct management of SAPR initiatives. Similarly, the Judge Advocate General's role involves legal matters, which, while important in addressing issues of sexual assault, does not encompass the broader program management and policy oversight role that OPNAV N17 holds. The Department of Defense oversees all military branches but does not assign a specific officer to the Navy in the same capacity as OPNAV N17 for sexual assault prevention and response.

6. What form outlines the victim rights that Sexual Assault Response Coordinators and other personnel must advise victims about?

A. DD Form 2701

B. DD Form 2910

C. DD Form 2873

D. DD Form 3055

The form that outlines the victim rights that Sexual Assault Response Coordinators and other personnel must advise victims about is DD Form 2910. This form, known as the "Victim Information Notification Standards," is specifically designed to ensure that victims of sexual assault are informed of their rights and the support services available to them. It serves as a crucial tool for ensuring that communication regarding rights and resources is consistent and clear for victims encountering the legal and support systems. DD Form 2701, although important, primarily focuses on providing immediate information to crime victims about their rights and available resources but is not specifically tailored for sexual assault victims. The other forms listed, such as DD Form 2873 and DD Form 3055, are used in different contexts unrelated to the specific notification of victim rights in sexual assault situations. Thus, DD Form 2910 is the correct and relevant choice for outlining victim rights in the framework of the SAPR program.

7. What is the main purpose of the DoD Safe Helpline that must be publicized by Commander, Navy Installations Command?

- A. Provide a fax service for sexual assault reports
- B. Facilitate victim reporting and crisis intervention
- C. Offer legal advice to victims
- D. Connect victims with medical services only

The DoD Safe Helpline primarily serves to facilitate victim reporting and crisis intervention, making it a critical resource for individuals who have experienced sexual assault. This service provides immediate and confidential support, allowing victims to report incidents and access help in a safe environment. The hotline connects individuals with trained professionals who can provide guidance and assistance in navigating the aftermath of sexual assault, including emotional support and referrals to further services. This purpose aligns with the broader goals of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program, which emphasizes the importance of empowering victims and ensuring they have access to the necessary resources. By publicizing the DoD Safe Helpline, the Commander, Navy Installations Command helps ensure that victims know where to turn for immediate assistance, reinforcing a culture of support and accountability within the Navy.

8. What is the form number for the Initial Information for Victims and Witnesses of Crime?

- A. DD Form 2700
- B. DD Form 2701
- C. DD Form 2702
- D. DD Form 2703

The form number for the Initial Information for Victims and Witnesses of Crime is DD Form 2701. This form is specifically designed to provide essential information and support resources to victims and witnesses in the aftermath of a crime, ensuring that they are aware of their rights and the services available to assist them. This form plays a crucial role in the Navy's Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Program as it helps in communicating important details about reporting options, protective measures, and available support services. By using this form, the Navy seeks to ensure that victims and witnesses receive the appropriate information in a timely manner after an incident occurs, which can be vital for their recovery and engagement with support systems. Understanding the proper use of DD Form 2701 is essential for those involved in the SAPR program, as it reflects a commitment to supporting victims and witnesses throughout the reporting and recovery process.

9. Which document must be submitted by all Commanding Officers (COs) regardless of which command submitted the special incident report?

A. First Flag Report

B. OPNAV 1752/2

C. NAVPERS 1752/1

D. NAVPERS 1070/887

The requirement for all Commanding Officers to submit the First Flag Report is rooted in the need for accountability and oversight within the Navy's response to incidents of sexual assault. This report ensures that senior leadership is informed promptly about significant incidents, allowing for appropriate actions to be taken at higher levels. The First Flag Report is critical because it provides an initial overview of the situation and circumstances surrounding the incident, ensuring transparency and facilitating a swift response not only by the command involved but also by the Navy at large. This chain of communication is vital to effectively addressing the challenges associated with sexual assault and creating a culture of prevention and support within the Navy. Other documents, while important in their respective functions, do not carry the same universal requirement for submission by all COs in cases of special incidents. This emphasizes the unique role of the First Flag Report in maintaining comprehensive situational awareness throughout the Navy's leadership structures.

10. To whom should written requests for access to personal information in the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database be addressed?

A. Office of the Chief of Naval Operations

B. Deputy CNO (MPTE) (N1)

C. Chief of Naval Personnel

D. Secretary of the Navy

Written requests for access to personal information in the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database should be addressed to the Deputy Chief of Naval Operations for Manpower, Personnel, Training, and Education (N1). This is because the N1 is responsible for overseeing personnel policies, which include matters related to sexual assault prevention and response. Addressing the request to the Deputy CNO ensures that it reaches the appropriate level of command that handles such sensitive data, respecting both the privacy of individuals involved and the protocols established for accessing confidential information.
