Explanations

SAMPLE

1. Which national corporate partner is known for providing lollipops for fundraising?

- A. Ozark Delight
- B. Sweet Treats Co.
- C. Candyland Fundraising
- D. Fundraising Fun Inc.

Ozark Delight is recognized for its association with fundraising efforts through the provision of lollipops. This partnership is particularly fruitful for organizations like FBLA, as lollipops are a popular fundraising item that appeals to a wide audience. The company's reputation in the fundraising space and the quality of their products make them a sought-after choice for groups looking to raise money through candy sales. Other companies listed may offer fundraising products as well, but Ozark Delight specifically stands out for its lollipop offerings, which have become a staple in various fundraising campaigns. This association is significant for school clubs and organizations that rely on engaging and popular items to maximize their fundraising potential.

2. Which of the following is a benefit of joining FBLA?

- A. Access to free business courses
- B. Networking opportunities
- C. Free travel to other states
- D. Guaranteed job placement

Joining FBLA provides significant networking opportunities, which is a critical benefit for members. Networking is essential in the business world, as it allows individuals to connect with peers, industry professionals, and potential employers. Through events, competitions, and conferences, FBLA facilitates connections that can lead to internships, job opportunities, and collaborations in the future. Establishing a professional network during high school can have long-lasting effects on a student's career trajectory. While access to courses and travel opportunities may be appealing aspects of being part of FBLA, they do not offer the same level of sustained professional benefit as networking does. Additionally, guaranteed job placement is not a promise made by FBLA, as job placements depend on various factors including individual effort and job market conditions. Therefore, the emphasis on networking highlights one of the most impactful advantages of joining FBLA.

3. Which of the following is NOT one of the four divisions of FBLA?

- A. FBLA Middle Level
- B. FBLA
- C. PBL
- D. FBLA Adult Division

The answer is D, FBLA Adult Division, because it does not represent one of the official divisions of the Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) organization. The main divisions of FBLA include FBLA Middle Level, which caters to middle school students; FBLA, which is the main organization for high school students; and PBL (Phi Beta Lambda), aimed at post-secondary students. FBLA does include divisions specifically tailored for younger students and those continuing their education beyond high school, but there is no division dedicated to adults as part of the standard framework. Hence, while there might be adult resources or involvement in the organization, the official structure does not classify a specific division for adults. This distinction clarifies why the Adult Division does not fit within the established organizational framework of FBLA.

4. How many officers does Pennsylvania FBLA have?

- A. 7
- B. 5
- C. 9
- D. 11

The Pennsylvania Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) has a specific structure for its leadership team, which is crucial for facilitating programs, organizing events, and leading member initiatives. The number of officers reflects the organizational needs and the responsibilities that each officer must undertake. Having 9 officers allows for a distribution of roles that can focus on various aspects of the organization, such as finance, membership, public relations, and event planning. This structure ensures that each area can receive dedicated attention and expertise, which aids in the effective operation and growth of the organization. This comprehensive team is necessary to support the diverse activities and projects that FBLA engages in throughout the state. In summary, the choice of 9 officers for Pennsylvania FBLA supports a well-rounded leadership model that enhances the effectiveness of the organization.

5. Who is the 2025-2026 Pennsylvania State President?

- A. Mr. Dario Aliberti
- B. Mr. Benjamin Scholl
- C. Miss Ava Troup
- D. Mr. Jonathan Lehigh

The Pennsylvania State President for the 2025-2026 term is Mr. Benjamin Scholl. This designation indicates that Mr. Scholl is recognized for his leadership skills, commitment to the Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) organization, and ability to represent Pennsylvania at various events and competitions. Typically, state presidents are elected based on their experience within the organization, their vision for the upcoming year, and their capability to motivate and guide fellow members. Leaders like Mr. Scholl play a crucial role in facilitating workshops, encouraging participation in FBLA activities, and advocating for the interests of students in business education at the state level. The other individuals listed may hold or have held roles within FBLA, but they do not hold the specific title of State President for the mentioned term, which distinguishes Mr. Scholl as the correct answer in this context.

6. In a chapter meeting, if you want to change the wording of a motion that is being discussed, what do you have to do?

- A. Make a secondary motion
- B. Make a motion to amend the main motion
- C. Call for the question
- D. Table the motion

When you want to change the wording of a motion that is currently being discussed, the appropriate action is to make a motion to amend the main motion. This process allows you to propose specific alterations to the original motion before it is voted on. By doing so, you are actively participating in the debate and enhancing the clarity or intent of the proposal. The motion to amend can involve adding words, changing words, or even striking words from the motion. It is a crucial part of parliamentary procedure that enables members to refine and improve proposed actions to ensure that they accurately reflect the sentiments of the group. While there are other procedures available during discussions, such as making a secondary motion, calling for the question, or tabling the motion, these do not specifically pertain to altering the existing wording of a motion. Making a secondary motion refers to introducing a new motion, not modifying the one under discussion. Calling for the question is a way to end debate and move directly to a vote, which does not allow for changes. Tabling the motion involves postponing consideration of it entirely, rather than making revisions to clarify or improve it. Thus, making a motion to amend is the correct course of action for changing the wording of a motion.

7. What motion enables the assembly to lay the pending question aside temporarily for something of immediate urgency?

A. Postpone

B. Lay on the table

C. Withdraw

D. Suspend

The motion that allows an assembly to lay the pending question aside temporarily in order to address something of immediate urgency is to "lay on the table." This motion is used when an issue needs to be set aside quickly so that a more pressing matter can be handled. It effectively places the current discussion or motion into a kind of limbo, enabling the assembly to return to it later if desired. Using this motion ensures that urgent matters can be prioritized without permanently discarding the original question or motion. This is particularly useful in meetings where unexpected situations arise that require immediate attention, allowing the assembly to maintain order and effectively manage its time and resources. It is important to note that this motion does not mean the original question is dismissed; it is simply paused while something more urgent takes precedence.

8. When does National FBLA-PBL week occur?

A. First week in February

B. Second week in February

C. Third week in February

D. Last week in February

National FBLA-PBL Week is celebrated during the second week of February each year. This timing allows chapters across the country to collectively participate in activities that promote awareness of the organization's mission and contributions to business education. The week serves as an opportunity for members to engage in various events, including community service projects, networking opportunities, and initiatives that highlight the importance of business leadership. By designating the second week of February, National FBLA-PBL Week aligns with a period where schools are in session, maximizing participation and visibility for the organization.

9. Which of the following is NOT a type of subsidiary motion?

- A. Postpone indefinitely
- B. Amend
- C. Suspend the rules
- D. Commit

A subsidiary motion is a type of motion used to assist in the handling of a main motion. It helps modify, delay, or refer the main motion to another group for further consideration. The correct answer indicates that "suspend the rules" does not fall under the category of subsidiary motions. Suspending the rules is considered a privileged motion, which addresses the urgency or special circumstances of a situation, allowing members to bypass certain rules that might otherwise impede the progress of a meeting. In contrast, the other options—postpone indefinitely, amend, and commit—are all designed to interact directly with a main motion, making them subsidiary motions that help facilitate its discussion and decision-making process. This distinction is important to understand the different categories of motions within parliamentary procedures.

10. Which colored candle represents the parliamentarian during the installation ceremony?

- A. Blue
- B. Grey
- C. Red
- D. Yellow

The candle that represents the parliamentarian during the installation ceremony is grey. This color is specifically chosen to symbolize the role of the parliamentarian, which includes maintaining order, ensuring the rules are followed, and providing guidance on parliamentary procedure. Each officer role in an organization like FBLA has a designated color that reflects their responsibilities, and grey is unique to the position of the parliamentarian, marking its importance in facilitating effective meetings and decision-making processes.
