1. Which project provides material assistance and encouragement to schools, music organizations, and musicians in developing countries?

- A. Composers Bureau
- B. Music Therapy
- C. People-to-people Project
- D. Bold Notes Project

Providing material assistance and encouragement to schools, music organizations, and musicians in developing countries is about international cultural support that directly helps communities build musical capacity. The People-to-people Project fits this description because it emphasizes direct, person-to-person connections that supply tangible resources—like instruments, scores, or funding—and foster ongoing encouragement through partnerships, exchanges, and collaborative opportunities. This hands-on, community-focused approach is what makes it the best match for helping developing-country schools and organizations grow and thrive. The other options don't center on this kind of international material support or sustained cultural encouragement for schools and musicians abroad.

2. Which description best describes Collegiate membership?

- A. an alumna who remains in school
- B. a regularly matriculated woman student at an institution where a chapter is chartered, who is currently enrolled in or has completed one or more courses in music
- C. a woman who supports the arts in the community and is invited to join
- D. the four types are 1) Member Laureate 2) Honorary Member 3) National Arts Associate 4) Friend of the Arts

Collegiates are student members who are actively enrolled at a college or university that has an SAI chapter and who are connected to music study. So the description that fits best is the regular matriculation of a woman student at an institution with a chartered chapter, who is either currently taking music courses or has already completed music coursework. This shows both being a student within the chapter's home institution and having a musical studies link, which is what collegiate membership is designed to recognize. Other descriptions refer to graduates or non-student supporters or to other member types (honorary, alumni-related, or friends of the arts), which are not collegiate membership.

3. Which of the following is NOT a stated purpose of SAI?

- A. To promote intercollegiate athletics
- B. To manage campus bookstore operations
- C. To provide student travel stipends
- D. To organize the cultural life of Sigma Alpha Iota members

SAI is devoted to music study, performance, scholarship, and enriching the cultural and musical life of its members. Promoting intercollegiate athletics isn't part of that mission, since athletics aren't the focus of the organization's programs or purposes. The other ideas fit more closely with supporting members' musical education and culture—travel stipends help members attend events and conventions, and organizing the cultural life of the group directly supports a music-centered community.

4. Which purpose involves organizing the cultural life of SAI members as a contributing factor to their educational growth?

- A. To improve traffic safety on campus
- B. To promote athletic competition among chapters
- C. To provide student scholarships
- D. To organize the cultural life of Sigma Alpha Iota members as a contributing factor to their educational growth

The idea being tested is how a group's purpose links cultural life to learning. Organizing the cultural life of Sigma Alpha Iota members as a factor in their educational growth treats culture—music, arts, performance, and related experiences—as a structured part of education. It recognizes that immersion in cultural activities deepens musical understanding, discipline, and artistic development, enriching study beyond classroom hours. That focus directly ties engagement with culture to educational advancement, which is why this purpose fits best. The other options address safety, athletics, or scholarships—important on their own, but they don't emphasize culture-driven educational growth in the same way.

5. The scope of the 'further development of music' purpose includes development worldwide. Which option correctly reflects this scope?

- A. In America only
- B. In America and throughout the world
- C. In Europe only
- D. Worldwide but excluding America

The scope being tested is about how broadly the purpose covers developing music—ideally everywhere, not just in one place. The correct option expresses development in America and throughout the world, which matches the idea of global advancement that includes America as part of the world. The other choices are too limited or contradict the global idea: focusing only on America or only on Europe narrows the scope, and claiming worldwide excluding America leaves out a region that is part of the global scope.

6. Which statement best reflects the Fraternity's expectation of personal integrity?
- A. Integrity is automatically ensured without monitoring
 - B. Members should act with honesty and uphold high standards of conduct at all times
 - C. Personal integrity is addressed only during initiation
 - D. The policy does not mention integrity

Personal integrity is shown through consistent ethical behavior, not just a one-time moment. The best statement captures that members should act with honesty and uphold high standards of conduct at all times because integrity is demonstrated in everyday choices, actions, and responses to pressure or when no one is watching. This aligns with how a fraternity's policies define expected conduct: ongoing accountability, trust-building, and a commitment to values in every situation. The other options miss this by implying integrity is automatic without oversight, only addressed during initiation, or not mentioned at all, which conflicts with having a formal code of conduct.

7. Which purpose indicates the development of music on a global scale?
- A. To promote intercollegiate athletics
 - B. To provide student housing improvements
 - C. To further the development of music in America and throughout the world
 - D. To organize campus cultural events

The main idea being tested is recognizing a purpose that signals music spreading beyond a single campus to have worldwide influence. The option that states to further the development of music in America and throughout the world directly addresses growth in music with a global reach. It shows an intention not just to improve music locally but to expand and influence music across different countries and cultures, which is exactly what "global scale" implies. The other options focus on campus-specific activities—athletics, housing improvements, or campus cultural events—that don't indicate any aim to develop music on a global level, so they don't fit the idea being tested.

8. Which statement is true about Collegiate membership?

- A. A regularly matriculated woman student at an institution where a chapter is chartered, who is currently enrolled in or has completed one or more courses in music
- B. An alumna who has completed a degree
- C. A patron invited to join
- D. A member Laureate

Collegiate membership is for student musicians who are actively pursuing study at a college or university that has a chartered chapter. The defining requirement is being regularly matriculated as a student and currently enrolled in or having completed at least one course in music. This keeps the membership tied to active students within the organization's music-focused purpose. The other descriptions refer to different membership types—an alumna has completed a degree, a patron is a non-student supporter, and a Laureate is a special honor—so they aren't examples of Collegiate membership.

9. Which of the following is NOT listed as an item you can find on the National Website?

- A. Inventory of all members
- B. Chapter Procedures Manual (CPM)
- C. Sigma Alpha Iota National Objectives
- D. Report and award forms

Understanding what you can find on the National Website means separating publicly posted resources from restricted information. The site typically hosts documents that guide chapters and support administration, such as the Chapter Procedures Manual and the organization's National Objectives, along with forms used for reporting activities and submitting awards. The Inventory of all members, however, is not listed publicly; member rosters are confidential and are accessible only through the member portal or to authorized chapter leaders. So the item not listed for public access is the Inventory of all members. If you need member details, use the member portal or reach out to the national office.

10. Hazing is defined as which of the following?

- A. Hazing is defined as routine social activity
- B. Hazing is defined as a minor inconvenience
- C. Hazing is defined as "any action or situation that recklessly or intentionally endangers mental or physical health or any action taken or situation created which produces mental or physical discomfort, embarrassment, harassment, or ridicule"
- D. Hazing is defined as an approved part of initiation

Hazing is defined by actions or situations that recklessly or intentionally endanger someone's mental or physical health, or that produce mental or physical discomfort, embarrassment, harassment, or ridicule. This broad definition matters because hazing isn't just rough initiation or a harmless tradition; it includes anything that creates real risk or distress for a person, even if there isn't a clear intent to harm. That's why the other options don't fit: hazing isn't simply routine social activity, a minor inconvenience, or an approved part of initiation. Those descriptions describe activities that can be normal or allowed, whereas hazing specifically covers endangerment and disallowed humiliation or discomfort.
